
October 1st – October 2nd, 2010
The First Churches
Northampton, Massachusetts

An aim of this conference is to help chart the course of Edwards scholarship so as to help make it a collective enterprise where scholars from various disciplines and of different persuasions are encouraged to interact with one another so as to advance the cause of Edwards in an integrative way. In brief, it hopes to strengthen the community of scholars dedicated to the explication, application and continuation of Edwards’ thought. Papers (on all topics) are especially welcome that further the ongoing historical project of contextualizing Edwards’ ideas, using them to address contemporary concerns, or developing them within the framework of 21st century thought. For suggestions as to topics that might be considered, please go to the society’s webpage at www.jesociety.org and click on About the JE Society for “A Proposal from Edwin Mellen Press.”
